

GERMANY'S TARIFF ATTITUDE.

MUST SHOW THIS COUNTRY HER TEETH, SAYS DR. PAASCHKE.

Will Get More in That Way Than by Displaying Sentiment—Germany's Need of Protective Duties—Debate on the New Bill Goes on in the Reichstag.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
BERLIN, Dec. 4.—Dr. Paaschke at the resumption of the debate on the tariff bill in the Reichstag to-day said that the National Liberal party would be glad to see the bill sent into committee in the hope that a satisfactory settlement would be reached there. He added that the bill was not really highly protective. Foreign nations begged themselves round with a drizzle of protective duties, and Germany must do the same.

It was by such means that the United States had so developed her resources. People reasonably asked to what length this development would go. The United States had been guided solely by considerations of her own interests, so as to control the world's supply of raw materials. This was the policy that was being maintained by President Roosevelt. Some maintained that the United States must not antagonize the United States. He answered that the United States would not understand such a contention, and Germany would get more from the United States by showing her teeth than by displaying sentiment.

The bill was not a purely agrarian measure, though its first object was to protect agriculture. He held that high duties would not have the effect of raising the price of grain, though existing duties had prevented it from falling. He estimated that without the present duties the annual loss to Germany would have been about 20,000,000 marks. The National Liberal party did not object to the minimum clause, inasmuch as the Government believed that even with it new commercial treaties could be concluded.

INSULTED THE QUEEN.

Latest Story of the Quarrel Between Wilhelm and the Prince Consort.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
THE HAGUE, Dec. 4.—Queen Wilhelmina has entirely recovered her health and was able to walk out yesterday. She showed no trace of her recent illness.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—A news agency despatch from Amsterdam declares that it is learned from sources believed to be reliable that prior to the illness of Queen Wilhelmina a slightly heated discussion took place between Prince Henry and the Queen at dinner. Her Majesty was annoyed at his inattention and used somewhat harsh words, whereupon Prince Henry insulted the Queen.

Her Majesty's aide-de-camp reproached the Prince with his inattention and the result was that a duel with swords took place after dinner. The Prince was wounded in the arm, and the aide-de-camp was wounded in the chest. The Prince fought a duel with another gentleman, whom he also wounded. The despatch adds that the Prince had too much to drink.

DISCUSSING THE MESSAGE.

Afternoon Papers of London Find Much in It to Approve.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, Dec. 4.—All the afternoon papers comment on President Roosevelt's message. The Pall Mall Gazette thinks the message will be something of a surprise to those who had expected to find therein the dash of dash-dash-dash of the commander of the Rough Riders. The President, on the contrary, has become conservative, almost reactionary. The Globe concludes by declaring that the President's enunciation of the Monroe Doctrine will meet with universal acceptance, not only in the old country but throughout Europe.

The Globe agrees that measures against the anarchists should be taken, and adds that other murder societies need suppression, instancing the Clan-na-Gael. The paper expresses the opinion that President Roosevelt's anxiety to secure the Senate's approval to the Isthmian Canal treaty induced him unintentionally to overcolor his provisions on the American side, otherwise there would be demands for reparation for the rights which Great Britain surrenders by the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. The Globe thinks the attitude of the President in regard to the Monroe Doctrine is perfectly correct, but expresses the wish that provision be made whereby reparation can be exacted from a recalcitrant State.

The St. James's Gazette says the message contains a note of conscious strength and assured success. It welcomes the Isthmian Canal treaty as removing the chances of friction to which any joint obligations would have given rise. The Globe condemns any repetition of the old snarls about graceful concessions in connection with the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

The Westminster Gazette devotes practically the whole of its leader to the President's reference to the Monroe Doctrine, which it thinks will cause a flutter throughout Europe. It says the American doctrine, backed by the American surplus, means that many European nations in South America are foredoomed to failure. The paper thinks that it is Great Britain's policy to stand by the United States. "But, concluding the Gazette, the claims of the United States must seem inordinate to many of our European neighbors."

AUSTRIAN VIEW OF MESSAGE.

Gives Occasion for More Discussion of Our Maritime Property.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.

VIENNA, Dec. 4.—President Roosevelt's message to the Congress of the United States produced a profound impression here. The Neues Wiener Tagblatt, a moderate organ of the German party, remarks upon the fabulous extension of the industrial resources of America. It says that the United States are economically directly almost independent of the rest of the world. What other nation, it asks, could say the same? It adds that the nation is practically alone on the way to become the world's banker, and has equally increased its political importance so that its voice can scarcely be excluded from international questions whenever they may arise.

The President is in a position to make statements that would sound strange in Europe. Everywhere else there is an economic struggle and deep concern for trade. Almost every State finds itself in the presence of the question, What pressure can still be resorted to for placing its revenue on a level with State requirements, but in America the President begins by announcing that the condition of the country is everywhere prosperous. He speaks of the natural resources of the country, but what he refers to are the best and living resources, namely, the citizens and merchants who have created American trade.

The Wiener Morgen Zeitung considers that the President's message is a new chapter in the world's history through the adoption of the imperialist banner by a democracy. The President is in a position to make statements that would sound strange in Europe. Everywhere else there is an economic struggle and deep concern for trade. Almost every State finds itself in the presence of the question, What pressure can still be resorted to for placing its revenue on a level with State requirements, but in America the President begins by announcing that the condition of the country is everywhere prosperous. He speaks of the natural resources of the country, but what he refers to are the best and living resources, namely, the citizens and merchants who have created American trade.

MESSAGE PLEASES CUBA.

President's Recommendations to Congress Are Approved.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.

HAVANA, Dec. 4.—The message of President Roosevelt and the report of Secretary of War Root have created a very good impression here.

The Diario de la Marina says that the message is most encouraging. If the people of Cuba allowed themselves to be carried away by the first impression made by the message they would have cause to regret it. Even if Congress does not grant all the President asks something will probably be done to relieve the fearful economic condition of Cuba. However, the recovery of Cuba will be lost if something is not done soon.

The Advances Commercial says that Mr. Root's report is a welcome one for Cuba. However, Mr. Root, in order to show what Cuba has to offer the United States, bases his statements upon present conditions, quoting figures which largely ignore the fact that the people of Cuba are in a state of economic distress. The advantages which could be given to Cuba on these figures would not suffice for the needs of the island.

The Patria congratulates Mr. Roosevelt on his noble message, and expresses the hope that Cuba will see her patriotic longings fulfilled.

"Eloquent" Says Much Cause for European Fear of Our Progress.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The Liberte, referring to President Roosevelt's message, says the principles of protection will be modified only by treaties which are advantageous to the United States. It thinks that the regulation of trade and tariff matters should be left to the United States. The Liberte says that the message is a cause for European fear of our progress.
